

Newsweek Home » Education » Current Magazinecurrent

PUBLISHED IN COOPERATION WITH

Newsweek

GUIDE

» Dorm Room 1» Dorm Room 2» Dorm Room 3» Credits

It's All in The Details

Mouse over the black arrows for details

Lounging on unmade beds is passé. Caroline McKeough, a design student at Parsons in New York City, shows that an undergrad's budget can buy serious style. Colorful pillows and chairs add flair to dreary walls and floors. And if those fluorescent lights aren't doing the trick, set the mood with simple lanterns and floor lamps. Getting creative will pay off, and you'll score major bonding time with your

Clip File: Back to School Made Easy

CURRENT MAGAZINE

Updated: 8:21 p.m. ET Aug 26, 2005

Fall 2005 issue - Stepping into Fall

So long, sweet summer. The transition from carefree days at the beach to long nights in the library doesn't have to be a painful one. Whether you're a freshman or returning for your final year, this special issue of Clipfile will keep you hip even as your tan fades. Although you won't be sipping mojitos poolside anymore, we've asked trendy New York bartender Sabina Gadecki to serve up the hot new cocktail for fall.

Story continues below ↓

SPRING 2007 ISSUE

Editor's NotePutting the B.A. in BabyLastword: Life on the Wilde SideHow to Contribute to Current

COVER

Combat Veterans Confront Life on Campus

They've served their country in Iraq, Afghanistan and throughout the world. But a whole new set of challenges await when they return to campus and readjust to civilian life.

Newsweek

Subscribe NowTable of ContentsPeriscopeMy TurnNational NewsPoliticsWorld NewsInternational Ed.War in IraqBusinessEnterpriseTech & ScienceHealthSocietyEducationEntertainmentTip SheetThe Boomer FilesColumnistsLetters & Live TalksMultimedia/PhotosSearch ArchivesXtra.newsweek.comVideoU.S. NewsPoliticsWorld NewsBusinessSportsEntertainment

BOOKMARK THIS

Have three papers, two exams, and a presentation all due by the end of the week? Are you sitting at your computer looking for a way to procrastinate? Add these Web sites to your favorites and start studying....

5. www.pitchforkmedia.com

Some people call it snobbery and others call it refined taste. In reality, the folks at Pitchfork are just really critical of really obscure music. The good stuff rises to the top with some great recommendations (and disses).

4. www.toothpastefordinner.com

This beautifully simplistic site is updated daily with one whopping cartoon that looks like it was sketched out on a cocktail nap. Make it a part of your morning (or evening) routine.

3. www.thepublicjournal.com

Started by a pair of Cornell students, this site is exactly what it sounds like. Think about leaving your diary unlocked precisely so that your mom would read it.

2. www.bigwords.com

You no longer have to sell an arm and a leg for textbooks. Bigwords.com finds the cheapest price available by providing you with a side-by-side comparison of the best textbook prices on the web.

1. www.kittenwar.com

Have you ever been to hotornot.com? This is only a slight variation. Just go. You won't regret it.

Rate this story Low  High

Current rating: 3 by 11 users • View Top Rated stories

Print this

Email this

IM this

MORE FROM CURRENT

Next →

Current Section Front

Combat Veterans Confront Life on Campus

How Far The G.I. Bill Really Takes You

Putting the B.A. in Baby

Childcare on Campus

A Sisterhood of Mothers

More and more colleges are going SAT-optional.

Your Turn: Faces of a Nation

In Wikipedia We Trust

Please Curb Your Enthusiasm

Three's Company

Current Section Front